Porter Plans to Resign

Administration
Preparing to Junk
Virtually All
Remaining Controls

By Marvin L. Arrowsmith
WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—(P)—The administration is getting ready to junk virtually all remaining price and wage controls—and it was learned today that OPA chief Paul Porter plans to resign.

Only a final okay from President Truman was reported necessary to strip away all remaining price ceilings except those on rents, sugar, syrups and rice.

Many other wartime controls such as those on wages are expected to disappear at the same time.

Friends of Porter said he hopes the White House decision "would come quickly."

They added that as soon as it is announced Porter will go to the White House for a private talk with President Truman and offer his resignation.

Porter was drafted from the chairmanship of the Federal Communications Commission to take over OPA when former administrator Chester Bowles resigned last June. Earlier he served in key war agencies—as rent control director of OPA, associated administrator of War Food Administration, and associate director of the Office of Economic Stabilization.

Final Ruling Soon

Friends of Porter said he had been pressing for a clarification of White House policy on remaining price lids ever since President Truman yanked the ceiling from meats and livestock on Oct. 14.

One high government official told a reporter Mr. Truman will make a final ruling in a day or so and probably announce it next week.

The consensus among agency officials who have been conferring the last two weeks with reconversion director John R. Steelman is that the time has come to junk nearly all of the control program, except for rents and sugar.

While the plan is to retain rent controls, some government officials are saying it is quite likely it will be necessary to permit some increase in rent ceilings if other controls are dropped.

There was no indication whether such an increase in rent ceilings would be on an individual landlord basis or across the board.

There is some opposition to this, notably on the part of housing administrator Wilson W. Wyatt, but he and others who have favored a go-slow policy reportedly are prepared for a decision in the other direction.

Building Material a Problem

What to do about price ceiling on building materials has been one of the problems delaying the announcement of OPA's master decontrol list. Wyatt, as one official put it, is "very much worried" that elimination of ceilings in this field might make it necessary to abandon the present $10,000 price lid on new homes for veterans.

Mr. Truman will have the final say on this matter. His decision also is tied up with the question whether controls are to be maintained on such basic commodities as coal, rubber, steel, and other metals.

Officials inclined toward freeing these items are agreed that possibility of keeping the lid on building materials.

Supporting indications that the decontrol announcement will be sweeping and sudden word from one official familiar with the discussions that OPA Boss Paul Porter himself has abandoned his stand in favor of keeping most controls until supply and demand are in balance. Porter is understood to have swung around to the view that the quicker all controls are lifted, the better.

Payoff Punch

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Nov. 8.—(P)—The dignity of the Champaign county circuit court was momentarily upset at the conclusion of a divorce trial.

C. E. Tate, attorney for the wife seeking a divorce, had concluded arguments and Judge Grover W. Watson began to prepare the decree.

In a gentle voice the wife called her estranged husband to her side. Suddenly she administered a sound punch, remarking: "That's one I've owed you along time."

All Work, No Rest

BOSTON, Nov. 8.—(P)—Boston firemen aren't going to sleep on the 48-hour weekly tour that voters granted them in the recent election.

Mayor James M. Curley ordered all beds from fire houses with the remark that he presumed the firemen would be in the fire houses for eight hours of work daily and "therefore would have no need of beds."

The beds were provided originally for men obliged to do 24-hour straight stretches.

Ready for Delicate Operation

Sally Lou Medley, "blue baby," turns to say goodbye before entering the family auto in Kansas City, Kan., with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Medley, for trip to Johns Hopkins hospital, Baltimore, Md., where she will undergo delicate operation. She will celebrate her eighth birthday November 9 while enroute. Trip and operation expenses will be supplied by friends and civic organizations of Kansas City, Kan. (NEA TELEPHOTO)

Missouri Pacific To Enlarge De Soto Shops

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 8.—(P)—The Missouri Pacific railroad plans to spend $750,000 to enlarge its repair shops at De Soto, Mo., where 1,300 freight cars are to be built annually.

Permission for the expenditure was granted by Federal District Judge George H. Moore today on motion of Guy A. Thompson, trustee for the road. The expansion program is expected to be completed next June.

Family Food Bill is Higher

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—(P)—The Bureau of Labor statistics reported today that the family bill for all foods except meats increased an average of 2.2 per cent between mid-August and mid-September.

BLS said it used the mid-August meat figures in its index because lack of sales prevented "A reliable measure of change" in mid-September, when there was a severe meat shortage.

All retail prices to moderate-income city families, the BLS report said, advanced 1.2 per cent for the month, which ended 145.9 per cent above the 1935-39 average and 48 per cent more than the pre-war level in August, 1939.

"Higher prices for food, clothing and house-furnishings were primarily responsible for this increase," BLS said, "but all major groups contributed to the rise."

A notable exception to the price rise trend is the BLS index for gas and electricity, which in August 1939 was 99 per cent of the 1935-39 average and in mid-September 1946 had declined to 91.7 per cent of that average. This reflects lower gas and electric utility rates.

BLS said its mid-September consumers price index included, for the first time since the war began, the costs of many scarce durable goods items, such as automobiles, refrigerators, sewing and washing machines, vacuum cleaners and radios.

W.J. Waldman Died Thursday

William J. Waldman, aged 59, a former well known Sedalia merchant, died at Menorah hospital, Kansas City, at 5:30 o'clock Thursday p. m. His death came suddenly. While he had a recent illness, Wednesday evening he had been out driving, had gone to the airport, to meet relatives, enjoyed his dinner and seemed to be feeling fine.

Mr. Waldman, when in Sedalia, was associated with his father, J. Waldman, in operating a men and women's clothing store. He had always taken an active part in civic affairs when here.

He moved to Kansas City in 1936 and there owned and managed a shop, Javs on the Plaza. The family home was the James Russell-Lowell apartments, 722 Ward Parkway.

Mr. Waldman leaves his wife, Mrs. Sophia Waldman, two sons, Billy and Dick Waldman, of Kansas City, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Waldman, long time residents of Sedalia, now of Los Angeles, one sister, Mrs. Jerome Wexler, Los Angeles and one brother, Harry Waldman, Los Angeles, who is expected to arrive in Kansas City this afternoon.

Funeral services will be at Newcomers at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

Recessed Council Meeting Tues. Night

Officials in the city hall will be closed all day Monday, Armistice Day.

The city council, which met last Monday night and recessed, will hold that recessed meeting Tuesday night and not Monday night, which is the holiday.

Story Hour Saturday

The Story Hour for pre-school and first, second and third grades will be held Saturday morning at 10:00 o'clock at the Sedalia Public Library.

Miss Lavilla Smart will tell the stories, "Pokey Bear," "Jack and the Beanstalk," "Little Girl With Seven Names," and "Fairy Shoemaker."

Truman Is Better

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—(P)—President Truman, who has been suffering from a head cold, was greatly improved today, the White House reported.

Republicans Want to End Wartime Laws

Not Such a Simple Matter is the Democrat Opinion

By Sterling F. Green
WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—(P)—More than 520 pieces of wartime legislation would be tossed out the window by the promised Republican move to end President Truman's emergency powers.

But high Democratic officials voiced skepticism today that the new cop-controlled congress will take that full step, despite the post-election forecast of Rep. Clarence Brown, Republican National campaign director.

These officials also cast doubt on whether the whole thing could be accomplished that simply. They contend that the expiration of most—but not all—of the war powers depend variously on:

1. The termination of the war.
2. The termination of hostilities.
3. The termination of the emergency.

And none has yet been declared officially at an end.

One top administration aide, without going into the technical aspects of a repeal step, told a reporter:

No Drastic Change

"The resolution wouldn't change anything important, because most of the business and industry controls are going out anyway. But it would knock out a lot of laws and 'thereby' gun up the government badly until new legislation was passed."

This official said, for instance, that a large amount of treasury silver would have to be moved out of the atomic bomb plant at Oak Ridge, Tenn., and would "completely disrupt" the machinery there.

An inspection of the mass of statutes which would be affected by declaring the war, hostilities and the emergency at an end shows that among other things it would: Require the recall of all troops overseas except regular army men within six months unless other laws were passed.

End the tax free shipment of cigarettes to troops abroad and cut off their extra pay.

Slash some taxes.

Prevent the deportation of undesirable enemy aliens and lift the ban on prostitution near army camps.

Slash excise taxes to prewar rates in six months. Liquor levies, for instance, would drop from $9 to $6 a gallon, theater admissions from 20 to 10 per cent and night club taxes from 20 per cent to 5 per cent. The taxes on jewelry, furs, cosmetics and telephone tolls also would plummet.

Still left, however, would be the second war powers act, which officials insist would require separate repeal action. This covers such things as sugar rationing, priority controls, the government's purchase and control of rubber, tin and other strategic materials.

The prohibition against margin trading on the stock exchange would die within six months after a declaration of peace, because the credit controls are based on the first war powers act, which expires at that time.

Wage controls, otherwise would run until June 30—unless the administration ends it sooner—would also terminate, as would the government's power to seize strike-threatened plants.

Conference for Peace Officers November 20

A law enforcement conference, sponsored by the Federal Bureau of Investigation, will be held in Sedalia, in the City Council Chamber, from 2:00 until 5:00 o'clock Wednesday, November 20.

The program will consist of discussions relative to current law enforcement problems, recent legislation affecting peace problems, methods of investigating specific violations, and they will show pictures of badly wanted fugitives.

Peace officers from the Central Missouri district will attend.

Today's Score On GOP Sweep In Congress

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—(P)—Here is today's score on the republican sweep in both houses of congress:

House—Republicans elected 246; democrats 187; American Labor 1; in doubt 1 (First Utah). A majority is 218.

Senate—Republicans elected 23, for a total of 51; democrats 11, for a total of 43; undecided, but with democrats leading, 2 (Maryland and West Virginia). A majority is 49.

The official count was in progress in Maryland, where some official figures combined with the unofficial tally from all but five other precincts, gave Gov. Herbert R. O'Connor (D) a lead of 1,506 over D. John Markey (R).

The official tabulation begins Tuesday in West Virginia where the preliminary count, with 13 precincts missing, gave Senator Kilgore (D) a lead of 3,125 over Thomas B. Sweezy (R).

In both states the republicans were refusing to concede and raising contentions of voting irregularities.

One of the five vessels was the Cope, of which Commander Thomas Jenkins, son of Mrs. C. A. Jenkins, Dean apartments, was air group commander, and he was one of the men honored on this occasion.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—(P)—The agriculture department said today that if present plans work out, the country's wheat reserve will more than double during the current marketing year.

Reserves July 1 were down to only 101,000,000 bushels, reflecting large exports to famine areas abroad.

They are expected to climb to about 235,000,000 bushels by next July 1, which would be about equal to the 1932-41 average.

Soviet Union Postpones Policy Speech

United States Remains Patiently Firm With Russia

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Nov. 8.—(P)—The Soviet Union today postponed its keenly anticipated policy speech in the 51-member United Nations trusteeship committee where the United States already has offered U. N. jurisdiction, with a "strategic area" reservation, over Japanese-mandated islands in the Pacific.

Prof. Boris Stein, alternate Russian delegate, first explained to the committee that postponement to Monday was necessary because Ambassador Nikolai Novikov was delayed in Washington. Then Novikov arrived during the meeting, but did not take the floor, and the Russians offered no further explanation.

The Russian delay was announced after a United States take-it-or-leave-it stand in presenting the island proposal gave strong evidence of this nation's determination to pursue its policy of patient firmness with Russia within the U. N.

Other Postponements

Eight other nations scheduled to speak today also asked for postponement as it was learned that Russia would not speak yet on what is expected to be one of the hottest controversies before the U. N. assembly and the security council.

John Foster Dulles, United States alternate delegate, made the American stand on the Pacific Islands apparent when he told newsmen that rejection of the Washington proposal would mean continuance of "de facto" administration by the present controlling authority.

In simple terms, this would mean that this country, as the conquering and occupying power, would remain installed in the former mandated islands wrested from the Japanese—at least until a final Pacific peace pact has been approved.

Significantly, Dulles made his statement only a short time after conferring with Secretary of State Byrnes in New York for the foreign ministers' council, which resumes its deliberations today (3:30 p. m.) with the touchy problem of Trieste high on the agenda. Byrnes laid down his "patient but firm" policy toward Russia shortly after his return from Paris.

Aimed at Soviets

Dulles' opening address on the issue appeared aimed in the direction of the Soviet Union in the light of information, from responsible diplomatic quarters, that the United States circulated its trusteeship plan in advance and attempted, unsuccessfully, to obtain a Russian okay.

The United States plan would place the mandated islands under a trusteeship solely administered by the United States on the theory that they are strategic areas essential to its security. As such, they would not be subject to United Nations inspection.

This plan constituted a broad concession by the state department to the stand previously maintained by American military chiefs. The state department earlier had taken the position that only the actual defensive installations should be closed to inspection.

Truman Looks for Formula

By Ernest B. Vaccaro
WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—(P)—President Truman began the search today for a formula on how to run a government in which the political opposition makes the rules and holds the purse-strings.

He called in his cabinet for its first meeting since Tuesday's elections gave the Republicans control of both houses of congress when the lawmakers convene in January.

While routine problems were said by White House aides to dominate the agenda of today's session, the administration's unenviable position was certain to undergo at least a preliminary examination.

First, the president likely will make plain to his cabinet members what he has to others—that he is not quitting his post, in favor of a Republican and has not even considered the possibility of doing so.

Beyond his decision to carry on for the next two years in a new role of "independence," the president, his closest advisors say, has not worked out the details of the course he will follow.

A coalition cabinet is out. That much is certain, all of his associates agree.

So is any major cabinet shake-up, barring some unforeseen development the White House does not now foresee.

Democratic Farmer Believes He Will Need His Own Rabbits

MALDEN, Mo., Nov. 8.—(P)—The Malden Merit, published in this heavily Democratic farm section, today carried an advertisement bearing the name of F. M. Hawes, a prominent farmer, which read: "Take warning! No more rabbit hunting will be permitted on my farm. Since the Republicans have come into power, I'll need them myself."

Communists' Party Breaks Up in a Riot

Eggs, Tomatoes, 'Stink Bombs' and Chairs Hurlled

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 8.—(P)—Police responding to a riot call last night arrested 127 persons at a meeting of the communist party, where they said, eggs, tomatoes, chairs and "stink bombs" were hurled.

Captain Henry Clark, night supervisor of police, said he was told the disturbance began when a speaker said "Russia is a better country than America."

Of the 127 arrested, 121 were booked on a city charge of disturbing the peace and six were booked on a state charge of inciting riot.

James E. Jackson, Negro, who described himself as chairman of the Louisiana state committee of the communist party, said:

"I had been speaking about a half hour when I noticed a photographer approach the door at the head of a group of 25 or 30 men."

"Then someone in the audience jumped up and demanded why didn't I go back where I came from. Then all hell broke loose."

Had to Dodge Eggs

He added that he attempted to quiet the tumult by explaining that he came from Virginia, but failed because he was occupied with dodging a barrage of eggs.

Communist party members contended the disturbance was precipitated by anti-communists who had infiltrated the meeting and had begun the egg-throwing at a pre-arranged signal.

Others who attended said the outbreak resulted from resentment of remarks by Jackson comparing the government of the United States unfavorably with that of Russia.

Several of the participants received bruises and lacerations, but none required hospitalization.

Police said "communistic literature" several clubs and knives were found on the floor of the meeting room.

Notre Dame Expected to Defeat Army

Writer States
Score Will be
About 28 to 21

By Harold Claassen
NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—(P)—Notre Dame will end Army's 3-year winning streak in Yankee stadium tomorrow.

That's the opinion of this college football forecaster, who is typing this weekly stint with blistered fingers—acquired while burying the family fortune in the back lot to avoid any chances of backing his own guesses with cash.

Those lop-sided defeats of the past two years have been on every Notre Dame football mind since the start of practice—and the gridiron world learned last Saturday in the Princeton-Penn upset what a truly inspired team can do.

Getting specific, Notre Dame will win by a 28 to 21 score.

Other guesses on this week's games:

Southern California over California. Gordon Gray has regained his pre-war form and the Trojans of Southern California again are the toughest of old.

May Settle Race
Rice over Arkansas: It may be that this game will settle the Southwest conference race. Clyde Scott, the one-time Navy hero, is healed but if his new found Arkansas mates win, it will be a bigger upset than the recent Rice victory over Texas.

Iowa over Wisconsin: The Badgers have a weak offense, Iowa can do everything well but score. Here's where they learn.

Alabama over Louisiana State: Harry Gilmer was held completely in check last week. He is too good to suffer that fate on successive Saturdays.

Pennsylvania over Columbia: In the belief that the potentially great Quaker club learned its lesson last week when Princeton triumphed.

Northwestern over Indiana: Ben Raimondi's passes will keep it close, but the Wildcats will have power enough to win.

Georgia Tech over Navy: The Middies are reported as a "coming" team. They are coming headon into their sixth defeat.

Ohio State over Pittsburgh: Midwesterners say Ohio State

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.
NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—(P)—The National Football League is rather proud of its new rule which forbids signing college players until they have passed through the 1947 draft, even though their classes have been graduated. The whole idea is to keep pro scouts from invading college campuses and disturbing peaceful relations with the source of supply. A lot of kids have come back from the services looking like a lot better pro material than they were before the war. Normally they would be regarded as free agents now. But the National League clubs agreed it would be better to lose out in the race for material than to start anything that might look like raiding.

Counting The House
More than 350 newsmen requested tickets to cover the Army-Notre Dame football game and exactly 147 seats are available, including 40 for telegraphers.

The rest will be occupied by representatives of 97 newspapers from 19 states and the District of Columbia, England, Australia and Sweden. That leaves an awful lot of people who'll be mad at the West Point athletic department.

Shorts and Shells
Sarah Palfrey Cooke, the tennis star, has blossomed out as a radio commentator on pro basketball. She played the game in school, and field hockey, too.

Georgia football followers hail Quaker back John Rauch as the guy who makes the Bulldogs' attack, including Chickie Trippi, click. He only played 58 minutes against Alabama. Jim Barber, one of the football Yankee's coaches, claims Army's Barney Poole and Hank Folsberg are the best pair of college ends in America and of the two he likes Folsberg best.

Pizskin Pickins
Pennsylvania vs. Columbia
Penn. once upset.

Purdue vs. Minnesota
Bennie Bierman fears Purdue.

U. C. L. A. vs. Oregon
UCLA Bruins

Leave 'em in ruins.

Army vs. Notre Dame
The subway alumni, very bleak.

From two years of Army's winning streak.

Are hastening out to wage a buck on the Irish line and Irish luck.

now is the class of the Big Nine.

That makes it easy.

UCLA over Oregon: Burr Baldwin, great UCLA end, to make another personal show of it.

Skipping over other chalk lines in a hurry:

Southwest: Texas over Baylor, Southern Methodist over Texas A. & M.

South: Georgia over Florida; Mississippi State over Auburn, Tennessee over Mississippi, Tulane over Clemson, George Washington over The Citadel, South Carolina over Maryland, VPI over Wake Forest.

Penn State over Temple

East: Penn State over Temple, Boston College over Georgetown, Yale over Brown, Boston University over New Hampshire, West Virginia over Fordham, Cornell over Syracuse, Holy Cross over Colgate, Harvard over Dartmouth, Princeton over Virginia, Muhlenberg over Gettysburg.

Midwest: Tulsa over Oklahoma A. & M., Iowa State over Drake, Wichita over St. Louis, Michigan over Michigan State, Purdue over Minnesota, Kentucky over Marquette, Oklahoma over Kansas, Missouri over Colorado.

Far West: Stanford over Washington, Oregon State over Idaho, San Francisco over Kansas State, Arizona over Santa Clara, Nevada over Santa Barbara, Denver over Wyoming, Utah State over Brigham Young, Utah over Colorado A. & M.

Two Adrift In A Boat Rescued

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—(P)—Two residents of the Canary Islands, who had been without food for a week and without water for four days while adrift in a 30-foot sailboat, were rescued by the crew of a freighter Thursday 470 miles southeast of Cape Cod.

The coast guard search and rescue center here said the men were picked up by the S. S. James Smith, 7,000-ton freighter, shortly after noon and were being taken to a Canadian port.

The men were identified by the coast guard as Juan Henriquez de Beatty, 36, and Thomas Matros Castellano, 19, both of Las Palmas, Canary Islands.

A message from the Smith said the two men sailed August 9 from the Canary Islands for Mexico, in their boat, the Covadonga. Severe storms blew them off course and their food and water ran out.

Although in a weakened condition, both men were able to clamber aboard the Smith, the message said. Their small boat also was taken aboard.

Bodies Of Two In Wrecked Plane

HEARNE, Tex., Nov. 8.—(P)—The bodies of Joseph W. King, 29, and J. D. Barry, 24, Tulsa, Okla., residents, missing since Oct. 27, were found Thursday in the wreckage of their plane in a dense fog.

Wreckage of the plane was scattered over an area of 75 yards. The men were thrown a short distance from the fuselage.

Frank W. King, Jr., of Mt. Vernon, Ill., and H. G. King of Tulsa, brothers of one of the fliers and who were members of the search party, said the two were en route from Dallas to Kilgore to visit their mother, Mrs. Frank King, when they lost their way and landed in Hearne.

Harry Rogers, operator of the Hearne airport, reported that the men took off in a dense fog with Barry as pilot.

King survived by the two brothers, his mother and a sister, Mrs. George F. Carragher of St. Louis, Mo. Barry is survived by his father, W. D. Barry, and two sisters, all of Tulsa.

Fine Brothers For Disturbance

George Hunsaker, 18, and Robert Hunsaker, 20, LaMonte, who were arrested Thursday night on the charge of disturbing the peace, were fined $25.00 apiece in police court today by Police Judge W. E. Scotten. Both were unable to pay and were placed in the city jail.

The two, who are brothers, were sitting in the Griddle, 110 East Fifth street, when the younger Hunsaker ordered a bottle of beer. The waitress refused to serve him because he is a minor, and he called her an obscene name and created a disturbance, police report.

The police were called and when the officer attempted to arrest George Hunsaker, the older brother, Robert Hunsaker, tried to interfere. Police officers took both of the brothers into custody and placed them in the city jail.

Report on 1946 Cotton Crop

The last lap is the hardest!

You've probably figured your present car won't have to last much longer.

We hope you're right. For our part, we're doing our best to get those grand new Packards to our customers.

• You know the situation

But, like every other motor car manufacturer, Packard is still struggling with parts and materials shortages.

This year, the industry as a whole has been able to build only 44% of its output for the same period in 1941.

Packard has done better than that, but we'd like to put in a word of caution:

It may be some time yet before you get behind the wheel of your new car.

• Don't take a chance!

Make sure your present car keeps rolling. Test your car with this easy quiz.

If you find any of these symptoms, bring your car in for a quick check-up.

Lots of cars are lasting longer and running better because our expert mechanics are trained to nip trouble before it takes hold!

WINTERIZE NOW! These days, it's doubly important to beat winter to the punch. Bring your car in early for a thorough check-up of your battery, electrical system, and cooling system—as well as pre-winter lubrication and engine tune-up. The last-minute rush will be terrific—and the first cold snap may damage hard-to-get parts!

P.S. Fenders, doors, running boards—in fact, all body parts are scarce. Don't let rust eat them away. Our protective treatment will add to your car's life, appearance and value.

This home quiz can help you catch little troubles before they become big ones!

1. ENGINE: Is smoke coming out of the exhaust? Are you using more oil than you used to? If "Yes," better have your piston rings looked at.

OK ☐ Needs Attention ☐

2. CLUTCH: Can you push the pedal down 1" to 1 1/2" before the clutch starts to release? If the distance is less than that, better have it adjusted.

OK ☐ Needs Attention ☐

3. STEERING: Measure amount of "free play" from "A" to "B" and from "A" to "C." Two inches or more indicates too much lost motion before wheels begin to turn.

OK ☐ Needs Attention ☐

4. BRAKES: Does your brake pedal travel more than one inch before any braking is felt—and at least one inch of pedal travel left after a full stop in 30 feet at 20 m.p.h.? If not, police will say they are unsafe.

Teachers Talk Salaries

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 8.—(P)—A resolution urging a $2,400 minimum salary for a nine months term was approved yesterday by the department of classroom teachers at the annual convention of the Missouri State Teachers Association.

The action was in line with suggestions of several speakers who urged greater recognition and better pay for teachers.

Among them was Miss Mary Titus, president of the National Education Association department of classroom teachers. She told the 10,000 teachers that the United States is allowing its education system to deteriorate through lax teaching requirements and pinching the school purse.

Truman Could Make Republicans Unhappy

By James Marlow
WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—(P)—President Truman isn't going to resign but if he did — he could make a lot of Republicans unhappy.

Some Democrats have suggested he appoint a Republican secretary of state and then resign. The secretary of state would then become president.

They made the suggestion for two reasons:

1. So there'd be a Republican president to get along with the new Republican congress.

2. Because the law says that's how it could be done.

Under a law passed by congress in 1886 the president — if he resigns and there's no vice president — must be succeeded by the secretary of state.

Right now a number of Republicans are being mentioned as possible presidential nominees of their party in the 1948 presidential elections.

Some Being Mentioned
They include New York's governor Dewey, California's governor Warren, Minnesota's former governor Stassen, Ohio's newly-elected senator Bricker, Ohio's holdover senator Taft, and Michigan's senator Vandenberg.

Suppose Mr. Truman quietly called one of that group to the White House and said to him: "How would you like to be president if I quit?"

This probably would startle the daylight out of that Republican, and for some good reasons.

By becoming president now that Republican would have the inside track on getting his party to run him for president in the 1948 elections. Once in the White House, he'd have a better chance of staying there.

But how about all the other Republicans in this country who want to be president? Wouldn't they scream if they saw the top Democrat, Mr. Truman, handpick one Republican for president?

If that happened, their own chances of ever becoming president might be pretty well ruined. Of course, Mr. Truman could call upon the top Republicans to choose one of themselves to succeed him.

Could such a group of top Republicans agree on one of themselves as president?

Senate Must Approve
But even if Mr. Truman picked for himself an outstanding Republican to be secretary of state — meaning, eventually, president — could he really get him into the job?

When the senate's in session and a president wants to appoint a secretary, he sends his nomination to the senate for approval. The man doesn't take the job until the senate okays him.

But when the senate is not in session the president can appoint an interim secretary of state, which means: The man he appoints can fill the job until the senate approves or rejects him.

(For example: The senate isn't in session now. When Henry Wallace resigned as secretary of commerce a month ago, Mr. Truman named W. Averell Harriman as interim secretary.)

But the senate will not start its next regular session until Jan. third. Then it will be controlled by the Republicans. One of its jobs will be to approve or reject Harriman.)

But there's a question here: No End to Tricks
If Mr. Truman wanted to quit right now, could he appoint a Republican as interim secretary of state, and then resign? And could that interim secretary, not having been approved as secretary by the senate, become president?

If so, then a president would have the power of making a president all by himself. That seems to be more power for any one man than the founding fathers or congress ever intended.

But suppose Mr. Truman waited until the Republican-controlled senate came into session next January and then, as a first step toward quitting the presidency, picked a Republican as secretary of state.

The Republican senate could reject him. Mr. Truman could keep on naming Republican secretaries and the Republican senate — if it didn't like the men Mr. Truman picked or wanted to avoid friction among Republicans — could keep on rejecting them.

In fact, in this way, the Republican senate could keep Mr. Truman from resigning at all. There's no end to the tricks you can work with this idea. Try some yourself.

Buyers Resist High Prices
CLEVELAND, Nov. 8.—(P)—Buyer resistance to high prices is piling meat up in retailers' coolers.

Emmett R. Walsh, chief food inspector for Cleveland, said today: "And unless prices drop within the next four to six weeks, a lot of meat may spoil, the inspector said. Dealers, who a few weeks ago worried because their coolers were bare, worry now because they can't move the supply fast enough."

The inspector's report was confirmed by Chester G. Newcomb, president of the Cleveland Provision Co., and a regional director of the American Meat Institute.

It has been backing up in retail dealers' coolers for several days, Newcomb said. "Prices are working lower, but they are not low enough yet to move the meat in a normal daily turnover. Pork is particularly static, but the meat industry expects prices to drop considerably within the next three to four weeks."

Dealers are not buying much in advance of needs because they anticipate lower prices, said Walter R. Steppke, president of the Cleveland Retail Meat Dealers Association.

Looking Backward Forty Years Ago
C. Kelly Barnes, of the Barnes-Kem Clothing company, returned today from a few days business visit in St. Louis.

Pat Donohue has just completed an up-to-date residence on his farm near Spring Fork.

In a report to the Missouri State Fair board today it was shown that $2,300 was cleared on the sixth annual exhibition. A. M. Thompson, of Nashville, and Judge E. E. Swink, of Farmington, were elected delegates to the International State Fair Association to be held in Chicago in December.

Dr. S. G. Kelly, Thomas J. Sturges and Clyde Patterson spent today hunting quail fourteen miles west of Sedalia.

The Rev. Fr. S. Neiberg, of Sacred Heart parish, is home from Cedron, Monmouth county, where he assisted in conducting of a forty hours devotion.

A Matter of Opinion
NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—(P)—How much is a 100-year old cello worth?

Yves Chardon, first cellist of the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra, whose instrument was stolen from his car on a visit here on September 23, values his at $2,500.

But when he and police, making a tour of the city's pawnshops, found the cello, they learned the pawnshop proprietor had paid only $10 for it.

Mrs. Dora Mitchell's Funeral Saturday
Funeral services for Mrs. Dora Mitchell will be held at 2:00 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the Ferguson funeral home with the Rev. L. D. Hardeman officiating.

The body is at the funeral home. Burial will be in the Glenwood cemetery.

Taken to Des Moines
Mrs. Edward A. Schmidt, who formerly resided at 606 North Quincy avenue, was taken to Des Moines, Iowa, today in Ewing's ambulance to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Ernest Cutler.

Football and Religion

From football to religion may seem like a far cry, at first glance. But in reality it is not. The spirit of fair play which is the essence of football and of every other worthwhile sport is a direct outgrowth of the influence which our religious institutions have exerted on the national character of the United States.

Consider for a moment—What do we actually mean by fair play? Isn't it simply that our fellow men have a right to expect decent treatment from us? Isn't it simply that a spirit of kindness and helpfulness ought to govern our actions toward others, not only in sport, but in ordinary life as well?

Surely, then, it must be clear that fair play is simply a specific application of the great religious principles, embodied in the Golden Rule, "Do unto others as you would have others do unto you."

We in America may well be proud of our traditions of sportsmanship and fair play. We should be. But let us not forget the source from which these traditions stem our religious and character-building institutions. If we are a nation of good sports and good citizens, it is in large part due to the influence of our Protestant, Jewish and Catholic churches, which throughout history have ceaselessly held before us the finest spiritual ideals.

Paul Founds the Church at Philippi. Scripture: Acts 16:11-15;
Philippians 2:5-11

By William E. Gilroy, D. D.

"Philippi," as a mere name may mean little to the casual reader, but it was in that ancient city that the church was founded and Christianity was introduced into Europe, thence to spread to our western world.

Paul crossed the sea from Asia to Europe in answer to the Macedonian call — the vision in the night in which he saw a man of Macedonia standing by his bedside, saying "Come over into Macedonia and help us."

The vision may have been an expression of Paul's waking thoughts, for already he must have felt the urge to preach the Gospel to the ends of the earth.

The typical missionary knows no bound or boundaries. Where-ever and whenever he appears the missionary is always reaching out, urged by the greatness of his message and mission and perhaps possessed of a sense of destiny which tells him that he is building for the future as well as for eternity.

Paul was an imperialist. The empire he sought to build was the empire of Christ.

In this empire the lives of men would be ruled by the constraining love of Christ; but it was to be an empire, nevertheless, world wide in its sweep and ruling every destiny of man.

No earthly empire builder was ever inspired with a greater vision than was Paul. And none greater energy, determination and courage than Paul brought to his quest of the empire of Christ.

How different was this empire of Christ from earthly empires! Earthly empires have been built by the strong and ruthless, while Paul, in building Christ's empire, remarked upon the way in which God had chosen the weak to confound the mighty.

As Christ began His empire
among lowly fishermen and others from humble life, so the first Christian church in Europe began among a group of women meeting for prayer by a river outside the city of Philippi.

The notions, so unlike those popular today, that Paul had of the proper place and functions of woman did not prevent his supreme valuation of at least some women in the life of the church.
And among the notable women who had much to do with the acceptance and spread of the Gospel was Lydia of Philippi.

A seller of purple, apparently a good business woman, Lydia made her chief and best business the service of her Lord. When she had been baptized she gave Paul the hospitality of a Christian home.

Blessed be Lydia!

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"ADAM AND FALLEN MAN" is the subject of the lesson-lesson in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, November 10, 1946.

Golden Text: Romans 5:17.
Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth." (Genesis 1:1). The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Spiritually followed, the book of Genesis is the history of the untrue image of God, named a sinful man, and a mortal. This viewpoint, rightly viewed, serves to suggest the proper reflection of God and the spiritual actuality of man, as given in the first chapter of Genesis. Even thus the crude forms of human thought take on higher symbols and significations, when scientifically Christian views of the universe appear, illuminating time with the glory of eternity."
(p. 502).

WINGS OF TOMORROW: The Story of Aviation

BY CHARLES TRACY
Aviation editor, Cleveland Press; former Army pilot
(Written for NEA Service)

(1) Priority cargo and air mail of the future will be shot from origin to destination by pilotless rocket, radio-controlled and completely independent of weather influence. Tracks in the sky as true as today's rails will connect major cities of the world. Hastening the approach of that new era by making industries conscious of the advantages of air shipping are today's numerous air freight lines operated by war veterans using surplus military cargo planes.

(2) Commercial versions of mighty bombers are coming off production lines ready to whisk 100 passengers on a 5000-mile flight requiring but 18 hours. With luxurious, pressurized cabins, they'll make international air travel as common as domestic flights are today, paving the way for the greatly expanded services which

FOR a week Gayle made no move, and then two incidents combined to frighten her into awareness and action.

Mrs. Evans telephoned. "Something has happened," she said, "I think I ought to tell you. I didn't know a thing about it until an hour ago. I wanted to see Betty Kingston about something and rang her bell. The elevator happened to be at our floor and the boy saw me. He told me the Kingstons had moved away—Holy too. They're all gone. They went day before yesterday. He said. It seemed to me—"

"Of course!" Gayle interrupted. "Of course! I can see the reason. You were awfully kind to let me know. I never dreamed anything like this would happen. Now I don't know what to do."

"Have you seen a lawyer yet?" "No, but I will."

And the next morning Bart's picture faced her in the newspaper. He had enlisted in the Air Corps. Even for Bruce Bartlett, he had been given a surprising amount of space.

By evening she had reached several decisions, though she put only one into action that day. At dinner time she telephoned to Duncan Godfrey. Mr. Godfrey was a man well in his sixties, a widower who lived in a big house only a few hundred yards from Gayle's own. An old friend of Van Dyke Bartlett's, he had been one of the first callers on Bart and Gayle after they had moved into their home. He was the head of an important law firm in Manhattan, and Gayle felt sure he could give her the advice she so badly needed.

"Are you busy this evening, Mr. Godfrey?" she asked. "I really want to consult you on a business matter, and I suppose I ought to go to your office; but you would see me a great favor if you could see me tonight."

"Let me call on you," he suggested. "It's a beautiful evening, and I'll enjoy a stroll."

TO her relief, Mr. Godfrey came promptly at eight.

When they were seated in the living room, he studied her openly and then said, "You don't look well, Gayle. Is something serious the matter?"

"Something very serious, Mr. Godfrey. I'm lost. I hope you can tell me what to do."

"I'll do my best. What is it?"

Keeping firm control on her emotions and on her voice, Gayle told him the whole story up to, and including, the items about Bart in that day's newspapers.

"Yes, I saw them," he said when she had finished. "Joel Dwight did his work well."

"Joel Dwight?" Gayle frowned in thought. "I've heard the name, but it doesn't mean a thing to me."

"It doesn't? I'm afraid there must be a good deal about your in-laws you don't know. Why, Joel Dwight is the public relations counsel who takes care of publicity for the Bartletts. He sent that story to the papers."

Mr. Godfrey lit a cigar and took several long puffs. Then he said thoughtfully, "I think I see what is happening. I don't suppose you know it, but I'm sure you won a strategic victory when you refused to accept Bartlett money. Octavia came here to buy you off, and I'll wager it never occurred to her she couldn't. Octavia thinks money can buy anything. She thought she could buy you, and she wanted to buy you for just one reason—to protect Bart. She has a terror of scandal."

"Bart has too," Gayle said. "I hadn't thought about that at all, but I know he has. I don't think he could bear to be criticized in public. He's always been a hero, you see."

"Exactly—and now he's in danger of being revealed as a scoundrel. That, of course, is why he enlisted—the deed of a hero—that and to have a legitimate excuse to get out of the State and stay out. Tell me, are you planning to stay in this house?"

"I don't want to. Besides, I can't afford to."

"No, and I think you would be unwise if you did. Leave as soon as you conveniently can—and stick to your decision to refuse any money from the Bartletts. If any money is deposited to your account, refuse it. And watch your step every minute. Remember, they have three purposes: Bart's name; two, to put you in as bad a light as possible; and, three"—he paused and held up his hand for emphasis—"to get control of your son."

Terrified into action, Gayle sat erect for the first time that evening. Her eyes were wide with surprise and fear. "Kent!" she cried. "They can't take Kent."

"They'll try to."

Gayle's jaw squared into firmness, and her brown eyes gleamed. "They'll have a fight," she said softly. "They'll have scandal. They'll have everything, but they won't get Kent!"

"They won't get Kent's very careful. After all, they have to prove your unfitness, and right now they haven't a chance of doing that. But they'll watch every move you make. I'm just warning you to be extra careful. And I advise you to take your time. If you institute suit for divorce now, you'll run into difficulties. Bart is probably down South somewhere in a camp, and heaven alone knows where the Kingstons are. And since the custody of the child is involved, I certainly advise you not to go to Reno. You need a New York divorce with the full custody awarded to you by the court."

"But if I wait—"

"If you wait, the Bartletts may come to you."

Pickup Truck Backs Into An Auto

A 1938 Chevrolet coach owned and driven by Mrs. Ollie Perkins, 705 East Fifteenth street, received about $5.00 damage to its grill work, Thursday afternoon on Main street when a 1946 Ford pickup truck, driven by Mrs. Clifford Williams of Gravois Mills backed into it.

Mrs. Williams had stopped behind a Dodge sedan owned by Cecil Lockney, rural route 1, Houstonia and was waiting for the light at Main street and Ohio avenue to change. Mrs. Perkins, who was heading east on Main, as was Mrs. Williams, stopped directly behind the Ford truck.

The light changed and the Dodge, which was double parked hindered Mrs. Williams' passing. In order to get around the car, she backed up and in doing so struck the Perkins car, causing slight damage to it. The truck was not damaged.

The Daily Washington Merry-go-Round

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Elections are just a little like wars. After they are over we ought to sit down and take stock of things and see how we can improve the country. I am not at all sure that we have done enough stock-taking lately. Perhaps a lot of us have taken our country too much for granted.

But the boys who were out fighting for their country have been doing a lot of thinking. When you're sitting out in foxholes or lying in a hospital tent, you have time to think, and sometimes I wonder if it wouldn't be a good thing if our more extreme politicians, capitalists and labor leaders were put in just such a position — so they could do more thinking, too.

Along this line, I received a letter the other day from a young marine, John McCulloch of Wooster, Ohio, which struck me as so good that I am going to publish part of it.

"You see," writes John McCulloch, "I never realized before I received my discharge from the marines what a hell of a condition our country is in today. Of course I ran up against some pretty disgusting examples while in the service, but I thought our government could handle the situation in due time.

"Since I have returned to the states, it is hard for me to comprehend how messed up the situation has become. It isn't necessarily the strikes, black markets, etc., that worry me. But what does worry me is the fact that our government doesn't seem able to cope with the problems. "Today the word politics is synonymous with graft. People speak the word with disgust and usually mistrust the men associated with it. Actually, we should be very proud of politics and respect the men connected with it. "Whose Fault Is It?"

"For weeks now I have been pondering and worrying about this dilemma, trying to figure out whose fault it is, and the solution. I have now discovered whose fault it is, and the solution is comparatively simple. "It is my fault and millions like me. People today are criticizing our whole political setup and blaming just about everything on President Truman. And yet these people themselves don't do a darn thing about it. They just sit back and complain."

It seems to me that ex-Marine John McCulloch in his simple, direct way, hit the nail right on the head. I, myself, in this column, have my share of complaining. I have thrown the spotlight of criticism on a lot of politicians, including President Truman — and deservedly so.

However, it is also important to remember that we have just passed through a five-year period of stirring up millions of people to kill each other and it's bound to be tough undoing all this hatred. Furthermore, the job of beating our swords back into plowshares is sometimes tougher than forging the weapons of battle. It's especially tough when everyone drops his tools, doffs his uniform, lays aside his patriotic motives and expects things to get back to the good old days — without his help.

As I sit in Washington, watching the ebb and flow of politics and politicians, I find two things depressing. One is the tendency, so eloquently noted by John McCulloch, to blame everything on Washington. The other is the failure of Washington to attract good men.

Even with the best men in the world, however, Washington can't solve all the nation's problems. A lot of those problems come from a factory owner wanting too much profit or a labor union getting too high handed; or from the fact that all of us have let down a little since the war and are thinking too much about the almighty dollar, rather than about our neighbor whose son was missing in action — and the whole community, at that time, tried to be thoughtful and neighborly. But now we have forgotten that neighbor and have gone on to worrying about meat and new automobiles and other selfish things.

Even were President Truman the most brilliant leader in the world — which he certainly does not pretend to be — he couldn't solve a lot of these post-war problems. We have to solve them ourselves. We have to be just as considerate and thoughtful as we were when our neighbor's boy was missing in action; we have to drive just as carefully and help people along the road just as often as we did when gasoline was rationed. In other words, we have to think just a little more about the other fellow, and if we do, we really help our country and ourselves.

A Coalition Government Putting a lot of opposition politicians in congress to make more speeches isn't going to help things much. A certain amount of opposition is healthy and essential. But it can be carried too far and tear the country to pieces.

On the other hand, if President Truman could persuade a few more good men to work with him in the executive branch of the government, if he could bring in some able Republicans to share his responsibilities, the country definitely would benefit.

For the next two years we face a political house divided against itself. That can have a paralyzing effect on any nation. It could be disastrous.

If, on the other hand, influential and able Republicans were to occupy government positions of tide and importance, this could tide the nation over a dangerous period. Truman has not hesitated to do this when it comes to foreign affairs and famine relief. He

Claude Boul Is Guest Speaker On
'Legislation'

The business dinner meeting of the Sedalia Business and Professional Women's club held at the Bothwell hotel Thursday night was under the direction of the legislative committee, with Claude Boul, manager of the Sedalia Industrial Loan and Investment Company, as the guest speaker.

The business session was presided over by Mrs. Ollie McMullin, club president. Mrs. Pearl Stuart was introduced as a new member and guests present were Mrs. Claude Boul, Mrs. Anna Meyers, Miss Hazel Lang, Mrs. Mary Hilton, Mrs. Robert Malone, and Miss Elizabeth Blosser, the last named being a member of the Kansas City, Kas., club.

Mrs. E. F. Yancey led club singing, accompanied by Mrs. W. L. Monegan.

Miss Freda Mueller, chairman of the legislative committee, presided over the program.

She introduced Harry Lambirth, who in turn presented William Morgan and his Boy Scout band. The boys, in various costumes and playing on improvised instruments, with Bobby Stanley pianist, gave several numbers.

"Desire For Power" Mr. Boul, speaking on "legislation" reviewed the need for legislation as early as the days of Adam and Eve, when greed and jealousy began to appear. On has used two powerful and conservative Republicans, Vandenberg of Michigan and Austin of Vermont, as leaders of foreign policy. And he invited Herbert Hoover, despite vigorous Democratic activity to the contrary, to take the lead in famine relief.

However, the inclination of most Republicans will be to stay out of the Democratic domestic picture. They will be tempted to say "The Democrats made their own bed; let them lie on it. Two years from now we can reap the harvest of their mistakes."

Two years from now, however, it may be too late — too late to head off another depression and the war which usually follows depression.

Jefferson's Advice During the difficult period which this nation faced after the Revolutionary war, Thomas Jefferson wrote:

"There is a debt of service due from every man to his country, proportioned to the bounties which nature and fortune have measured to him."

That is just another way of saying what John McCulloch, the ex-Marine, said in 1946: "It's my fault and millions like me."

In other words, we've all got to do our part, whether it be the alleged big boys in Washington or the little folks back home who have a great deal to do with the final destiny of their country, even if they don't always realize it.

We've all got to serve. In doing so, we've got to get back to the fundamentals of the Sermon on the Mount and remember that after all we are our brother's keeper — if we are to weather this, one of the most chaotic periods of human history.

Several Injured In Santa Fe Collision

KIOWA, Kas., Nov. 8.—(P)—Three crewmen were hospitalized and 9 crewmen and "about 15" passengers treated for minor injuries following a slow-speed collision between the Pullman section of the Santa Fe's Grand Canyon Limited, west bound, and a local freight train near here Thursday, officials of the railroad reported.

The passenger slowed as it approached Kiowa, a town of 1,300 near the Kansas-Oklahoma border on the Santa Fe main line, about 6:30 a. m. (CST). This lessened the head-on impact with the standing freight.

Application For Big Loan RFC Turns Down

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—(P)—A government official disclosed Thursday that the Reconstruction Finance Corporation has turned down the application of Higgins, Inc., of New Orleans for an $11,000,000 loan to construct prefabricated housing.

down through the ages the desire for power has made criminals of some, thus it was necessary to have laws and enforce laws, he said.

He dwelt upon the danger from Communism in the world today, stating there are at the present time 700,000 dues paying members in the United States. He explained that they work under cover, swear on the Bible, they do not believe in, they are not Communists, but do everything in their power to undermine the government, and to do away with religion.

Many well meaning persons, he said, will get behind a movement that is a Communist one, founded on hate, without knowing of a realizing its purpose. For this reason, he said, everyone should look into propositions they help foster, and should give the proper support to officials of this country who are trying to bring about international good will and world peace.

Victors To Get Busy On Program

Senator Taft Speaks Of Move For Deep Cut In Nation's Budget

By Douglas B. Cornell
WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—(P)—Victorious senate Republicans today ordered a head start on whipping together a party program and policy for the first GOP-dominated congress in a decade and a half.

House Republican leaders already had picked the same day to start things humming in a steering committee meeting of their own. But they saw prospects of trouble over parceling out election trophies.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio) spoke in Chicago of trimming to $25,000,000,000 or $30,000,000,000 the budget for the year beginning next July 1. President Truman's revised budget for the current year is around $41,500,000,000.

Taft, who is in line for the senate majority leadership and the chairmanship of the finance committee, said that he did not favor retiring the national debt too fast. He said taxes probably could be cut.

Democrats, too, switched from election post mortems to asking in earnest: "Where do we go from here?" They found no easy answer.

But one thing was sure—whatever their course, President Truman intends to stand firmly at the head of the party. It can be stated without any doubts or buts that the chief executive has no intention of resigning and letting the GOP walk into the White House as well as the capital.

With the Democrats, it was a question of crawling out of their election bomb shelters, taping up their wounds, and trying to close ranks around those of their numbers who were not casualties.

Whatever hopes for the future they held were based largely on the idea that perhaps the Republicans might mess things up so badly that the people will turn once again to the Democrats, if not in 1918, then in 1920 or 1922.

The GOP, determined that nothing like that shall happen, have a big organizing and planning job to do.

This is how they are going about it.

The steering committees—compact groups of a few key leaders—meet next week to start figuring out the exact position the Republicans should take on taxes, economic controls, war powers and other legislative issues sure to come up in 1917.

In addition they are going to look into the problem of distributing major congressional posts, available to the GOP for the first time since the early 30s. They have worked out committee assignments and committee chairmanships, and determine whether to stick by a decision of the 79th congress to abolish some committees and bunch others together.

Whatever their recommendations, these will have to be ratified later on. A conference of all house Republicans has been set for Dec. 2. None has been called yet for GOP senators.

On the basis of campaign promises and statements and post-election comments from party leaders, the Republicans appear to be ready to move in the direction of:

1. Sharply trimming taxes and government spending.
2. Junking as swiftly as possible all remaining wartime controls. These are the basis of many of the pricing, allocation and rationing programs, also scrapping the President's power to seize strategic industries in an emergency.
3. Continuing a bipartisan foreign policy in cooperation with the present administration.

How—or whether—they are going to accomplish this, with a Democrat in the White House and large Democratic contingents still in congress, will be determined later.

Later standings in the political league, with most of the tabulations from Tuesday's elections conclusive, show:

Senate—With two races undecided (West Virginia and Maryland) and Democrats leading in both, Republicans have elected 23 and have a total of 51. Democrats have elected 11 and have a total of 43. A majority is 49.

House—with one contest (1st Utah) in doubt, Republicans have elected 246, Democrats 187, American Labor one. A majority is 218.

Preliminary tabulations of the total vote indicated it may pass the 36,700,000 record set in 1933 for an off-year election.

An Associated Press tabulation of the major party vote, with returns missing from three southern states and incomplete in most others, added up to 32,708,200. The Republicans got 17,914,073 and the Democrats 14,794,127.

Griessen Has Position With Equipment Co.

Retains County Office; Court Names Road Superintendent

F. A. Griessen, 903 South Kentucky avenue, Pettis county surveyor, has accepted a sales position with the Noel V. Woods Industrial Equipment Co., Kansas City. He has assumed his position traveling in Missouri and Kansas, but will maintain his headquarters and residence in Sedalia.

Griessen, in agreement with the Pettis county court through a resolution introduced by Presiding Judge J. V. Kesterson and passed last October, took a cut in salary from $166.66 to $100. Griessen explained he is not resigning as county surveyor, and in accordance with the state law, which gives the county court the privilege of setting the salary at a minimum of $1,200 to a maximum of $2,000, the salary was placed at the minimum.

As county surveyor he will continue to draw his $100 per month, the minimum salary.

Name Road Superintendent

At the time the court resolution was passed it was recommended a superintendent of construction be employed. John Prall, 718 East Third street, has been appointed to this position at a salary of $240 per month. The state law does not set a salary for employees, only to elect officials, which Mr. Griessen is.

Griessen Thursday morning stated Prall will assume full responsibility for county road work, but that he, Griessen, will still have full responsibility over the equipment. He also said that any engineering work to be done he would personally supervise.

Mr. Prall is also qualified to operate all of the county machinery, and although he is the supervisor he will handle the equipment.

Mr. Griessen stated the arrangement was agreed to between the court and himself, and he is not resigning as rumors being circulated have indicated.

Opportunity To Purchase German Made Goods

FRANKFURT, Nov. 7.—(P)—Gen. Joseph T. McNarney today threw open the doors of the United States zone in Germany to American businessmen and others with the necessary dollar credits to purchase industrial products now coming out of German factories.

Retain Right To Certain Pacific Isles

Same as if U. S. Had Annexed the Islands Outright

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Nov. 7.—(P)—The United States, facing a potentially hot debate over its offer of limited United Nations jurisdiction over Japanese-mandated Pacific Islands, today urged the U. N. to set up a Trusteeship Council immediately without injecting the veto into discussions.

By Max Harrelson

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Nov. 7.—(P)—The United States made it clear today that she would reserve sweeping rights, especially military, in the Japanese-mandated islands which President Truman offered last night to place under United Nations trusteeship.

One delegate, who did not want to be identified, said the military rights demanded by the United States were exactly the same as she would have if she annexed the islands outright.

The U. S. terms for turning the islands—the Marshalls, Carolines and Marianas—over to the U. N. are contained in a draft agreement now being circulated among the 11 members of the Security Council and two other nations, New Zealand and the Philippines.

Disclosure of the terms gave rise to immediate speculation that Russia would almost certainly attack the proposals and might possibly veto them in the Security Council. In the latter event, however, the islands would continue in their present status as occupied enemy territory.

Could Bar Inspection

The draft agreement not only reserves to the United States unrestricted rights to establish military, naval and air bases within the trust territory, but provides that any or all of the area may be declared closed for security reasons.

This means that the United States would be able to bar U. N. inspection of the entire area if she desired to do so.

Other sweeping provisions of the agreement:

1. The United States, as the sole administering authority, could bar the aircraft of any other nation from entering the area, which is 1,500 miles long and 800 miles wide and contains approximately 1,500 islands of various sizes.
2. The United States would reserve the right to give certain economic privileges exclusively to American nations.
3. The terms of the agreement could not be altered, amended or terminated without the consent of the United States.

Several Injured In Santa Fe Collision

KIOWA, Kas., Nov. 7.—(P)—Three crewmen were hospitalized and two crewmen and "about 15" passengers treated for minor injuries following a slow-speed collision between the pullman section of the Santa Fe's Grand Canyon Limited, west bound, and a local freight train near here today, officials of the railroad reported.

The passenger slowed as it approached Kiowa, a town of 1,300 near the Kansas-Oklahoma border on the Santa Fe main line, about 6:30 a. m. (CST). This lessened the head-on impact with the standing freight.

President Truman Has Cold After Trip

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—(P)—President Truman has a cold, contracted on his Missouri voting trip.

"It is nothing serious," the White House reported. He is staying in, however, on doctor's advice.

Also, Democratic Chairman Robert E. Hannegan went to Walter Reed hospital today for a checkup. An aide said this was a follow-up to the pulling of several troublesome teeth early this year.

How—or whether—they are going to accomplish this, with a Democrat in the White House and large Democratic contingents still in congress, will be determined later.

Later standings in the political league, with most of the tabulations from Tuesday's elections conclusive, show:

Two Adrift In A Boat Rescued

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—(P)—Two residents of the Canary Islands, who had been without food for a week and without water for four days while adrift in a 30-foot sailboat, were rescued by the crew of a freighter today 470 miles southeast of Cape Cod.

The coast guard search and rescue center here said the men were picked up by the S. S. James Smith, 7,000-ton freighter, shortly after noon and were being taken to a Canadian port.

The men were identified by the coast guard as Juan Henriquez Beratta, 36, and Thomas Matros Castellano, 19, both of Las Palmas, Canary Islands.

A message from the Smith said the two men sailed August 9 from the Canary Islands for Mexico, in their boat, the Covadonga. Severe storms blew them off course and their food and water ran out.

Although in a weakened condition, both men were able to clamber aboard the Smith, the message said. Their small boat also was taken aboard.

Break Signs In Coal Dispute

Lewis Call In The District Union Presidents

By Harold W. Ward
WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—(P)—Signs of a possible break in the soft coal dispute arose tonight as John L. Lewis called in district union presidents who would pass on any settlement plan.

Lewis himself made no announcement, but the approximately 30 Presidents in the bituminous-producing areas were brought into Washington, where the United Mine Workers are negotiating with the government for higher wages.

Neither Secretary of Interior J. A. Krug, who made the present contract covering federal operation of the mines, nor Lewis, has attended the government conference. Krug's aides were uncertain when he would return from a western trip before Monday. With Krug absent, Lewis has remained aloof too.

Recess To Monday

At the conclusion of today's meeting, the conference recessed until Monday, at which time both Lewis and Krug may attend the session.

A committee of union lieutenants has been talking for the past week with Navy Captain N. H. Collisson, coal mines administrator. Presumably the union men have been building up economic arguments on which to base a demand for higher pay and a shorter work week.

Lewis is proceeding with plans to end the contract with the government November 20, although Krug has questioned his right to do so.

Should President Truman, in his anticipated statement on wage policy within the next few days, remove all controls on coal as well as other industries, there is some chance, in the opinion of labor leaders, that he may ask Lewis to sit down with the coal operators themselves and work out a contract.

The coal mines administration has been running the mines since government seizure last May 22. Krug and Lewis made their contract May 29, ending a 59-day strike. It is believed that another strike would hardly be popular either with the miners or the incoming Republican-dominated congress.

There was speculation whether fear of restrictive labor legislation might influence Lewis to settle quickly with the government or the operators without a work stoppage.

Disabled Freighter Expects To Reach Lightship

ASTORIA Ore., Nov. 7.—(P)—The Panamanian freighter Helen, flying the Panama flag and loaded with railroad ties reported today she was taking water in an after-hold but expected to reach the Columbia River Lightship without aid.

How—or whether—they are going to accomplish this, with a Democrat in the White House and large Democratic contingents still in congress, will be determined later.

Later standings in the political league, with most of the tabulations from Tuesday's elections conclusive, show:

Four Children Die In A Fire

LEBANON, Mo., Nov. 7.—(P)—Four children were burned fatally today in a fire and explosion which rocked their two-story home where they were alone apparently getting ready to prepare their noon day lunch on the kitchen stove.

The victims were Harold Hemphill, 13; his sister, Bonnie, 14; Daris Ray Dickens, 4, and Eddie Lee Dickens, 2. Harold and Bonnie were the children of Mr. and Mrs. Owen Hemphill, grandparents of the two Dickens children.

The Hemphills and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Dickens, parents of Daris Ray and Eddie Lee, operate a cafe here together. Dickens had gone to the home, jointly occupied by the two families, and picked up Mrs. Dickens to help out with the lunch time rush at the restaurant.

Fifteen minutes later, the Hemphills and Dickens were notified their house was on fire. When firemen succeeded in extinguishing the blaze 20 to 30 minutes later they found three of the children, their bodies charred, dead in the kitchen and Bonnie, nearby, badly burned. She died a few hours later.

The fire and explosive did little damage to the six room house and was confined to the kitchen and dining room.

Firemen said the explosion probably was caused when the children attempted to revive a fire in the kitchen stove with either kerosene or gasoline. Harold Hemphill had attended school in the morning and come home for his lunch.

Besides Bonnie and Mrs. Dickens, the Hemphills have three other daughters, Mrs. Evelyn McCormick of Lebanon, Juanita, 17, and Louise, 11, and two sons, Dale, 21, and Don, 16.

Dinner Meet By B. P. W. C.

Claude Boul Is Guest Speaker On "Legislation"

The business dinner meeting of the Sedalia Business and Professional Women's club held at the Bothwell hotel Thursday night was under the direction of the legislative committee, with Claude Boul, manager of the Sedalia Industrial Loan and Investment Company, as the guest speaker.

The business session was presided over by Mrs. Ollie McMullin, club president. Miss Lois Stewart was introduced as a new member and guests present were Mrs. Claude Boul, Mrs. Ann Meyers, Miss Hazel Lang, Mrs. Mary Hilton, Mrs. Robert Malone, and Miss Elizabeth Blosser, the last named being a member of the Kansas City, Kas., club.

Mrs. E. F. Yancey led club singing, accompanied by Mrs. W. L. Monegan.

Miss Frieda Mueller, chairman of the legislative committee, presided over the program.

She introduced Harry Lambirth, who in turn presented William Morgan and his Boy Scout band. The boys, in various costumes and playing on improvised instruments, with Bobby Stanley pianist, gave several numbers.

"Desire For Power"

Mr. Boul, speaking on "legislation" reviewed the need for legislation as early as the days of Adam and Eve, when greed and jealousy began to appear. On down through the ages the desire for power has made criminals of some, thus it was necessary to have laws and enforce laws, he said.

He dwelt upon the danger from Communism in the world today, stating there are at the present time 700,000 dues paying members in the United States. He explained that they work under government, sweat on the Bible, they do not believe in the Communists, but do everything in their power to undermine the government, and to do away with religion.

Many well meaning persons, he said, will get behind a movement that is a Communist one, founded on hate, without knowing of a realizing its purpose. For this reason, he said, everyone should look into propositions they help foster, and should give the proper support to officials of this country who are trying to bring about international good will and world peace.

Talk on Credit Regulations at RCA Banquet

Mrs. McMullin is Installed as Ass'n President

Stephen Koptis, manager of the Consumer Credit department of the Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis, was the speaker Wednesday night at the annual banquet meeting of the Retail Credit Association held at Bothwell hotel.

Claude L. Boul presided at the meeting, which was opened with the singing of "America" led by Charles Hanna with Miss Lillian Fox at the piano.

Invocation was by the Rev. A. J. Brunswick, pastor of the Sacred Heart church.

Mrs. Herbert Hall, out-going president of the organization, was presented with a container of chrysanthemums.

The following newly elected officers were installed by Mr. Boul: Mrs. Ollie McMullin, president; Mrs. Mary Simon, vice president and Lee Redman, treasurer.

Gilbert V. Jones, who for the past twenty-five years has been secretary of the Retail Credit Association, was introduced.

Vocal Numbers

Mr. Hanna, accompanied by Miss Fox sang an old song which has lived through the years, "I Hear You Calling Me" and then a song written following the First World War as a contrast in songs. The second one was popular only a few weeks ago. Later he sang "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling."

New members of the association were introduced. They were: Harold Seaberg, Mr. and Mrs. George F. Scott, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Hamilton, Charles Cook, G. H. Routzong, R. T. Hicks and P. L. Gallion.

A moving picture on "The Story of Credit" was shown by Pinkney Miller.

Mr. Koptis was then introduced and spoke on "Regulation W."

Regulation W, the speaker said, was instituted by the board of governors in Washington in 1914 because of the war. The regulation is in two parts, first to curtail the demand for consumer goods because of manufacturing facilities and labor which were needed for defense and later war work, and second, it is an instrument of anti-inflation because it effects the control of down payment on articles made to meet the changing conditions.

Consumers credit, the speaker said, follows the ebb and flow of national economy. There are three groups of credit, he said, installment credit, charge account credit and service credit, and there are single payment loans.

There is a rate of increase in credit, Mr. Koptis stated, in spite of the fact that the heavy durable items are not back and when they do come back the increase will be greater. The installment credit is turbulent, it is the most flexible and is receiving the most attention from the board.

Up to Congress

Regulation W is now before the board of governors, its continuance is in the hands of congress and it is up to congress if there is to be a permanent instrument or form of control in credit, the speaker said.

Mr. Koptis complimented the Sedalia Credit Association and Mr. Jones on the cooperation in carrying out the program of Regulation W.

Chrysanthemums were also presented to Mrs. Ollie McMullin, the new president and Mrs. George F. Scott, a new member.

Mr. Boul announced the next meeting would be the Christmas party December 13.

Miss Hurlbut Tells of Her Work in Africa

Pinkney Miller Elected President Of Kiwanis Club

Miss Mary Hurlbut, Congregational church missionary in the Southwest African field, spoke before the Sedalia Kiwanis club meeting in Bothwell hotel Thursday noon, telling of her experiences in that country educating the natives.

She spoke about the odd customs of the natives, their superstitions and habits and of the missionary effort to teach them the value of their health by clean living rather than to accept disease and death as solely attributable to evil spirits.

Miss Hurlbut described the immensity of the field in which she worked in Angola, as large as several states, the lack of communications, the necessity of walking great distances to reach widely separated villages, of the school problems and the natives' desire for education in spite of the handicap of learning a foreign language—Portuguese.

President Was Thrilled At Sedalia Crowd

Over Billion Already Paid In Benefits

Under Old-Age And Survivors Insurance Program

More than $1,000,000,000 has been paid out in benefits under the old-age and survivors insurance program of the Social Security Administration since January 1, 1940, when monthly benefit payments, began under amendments to the Social Security Act made in 1939.

The 1939 amendments made old-age and survivors insurance family insurance, adding four new classes to the list of beneficiaries—widows, children and parents. Most of the persons to whom monthly benefits have been paid under the program have been women and children.

At the end of June 1946, some 545,500 men and 86,500 women who had retired at age 65 or later from work covered by the Social Security Act were drawing monthly benefits totaling approximately $16,400,000. These primary beneficiaries were receiving payments they had earned in employment in commerce and industry—payments based on records of wages paid, which are kept by the Social Security Administration.

They and other workers who had died after having attained insured status in the old-age and survivors insurance program had also earned monthly benefits—retirement or survivors—that were going to about 870,000 wives, widows and dependent children and parents in the amount of $13,700,000 a month.

Many Women Insured

Of the total number of beneficiaries at that time, about 549,000 were men, 522,000 were women, and 431,000 were children. These comparative figures indicate the stake that women have in social security.

The number of beneficiaries and the total amount of monthly benefits paid have increased since June 1946. They are expected to increase for some years in the future. To a degree, varied only by the unpredictability of death, and dependent upon the maintenance of an insured status by the worker, the benefit amounts of the future may enter today into the calculations of thousands of families in their planning for the economic security of tomorrow—just as the ownership of a home or possession of a bank account is taken into consideration in such planning.

Monthly old age and survivors insurance benefits follow inevitably on the retirement of the wage or salary earner, or upon his death, if one condition is met and one action is taken.

The condition: That the worker be insured under the program.

The action:

That a qualified beneficiary file claim for benefits earned by the worker.

Those Who Receive Pay

A wage or salary earner is fully insured under the old-age and survivors insurance program if he or she has been paid wages, roughly, for a period equal to at least half the time during which he or she, as an adult worker, may be eligible for benefits if he or she is covered employment, the earliest date of such a period, of course, is January 1, 1937, when the program began. That date will be later for those workers who reached age 21 since the program began.

The fully insured wage earner may leave employment covered by the act at age 65 or later and file claim for benefits. His wife, at age 65 or later, and his unmarried dependent children under 18 may be eligible for benefits if the fully insured worker dies at any age, his widow at 76 or over; his widow or any age if she has his young children in her care; and his young unmarried children; or his aged parents may qualify for monthly benefits on his wage record.

If the worker is only currently insured—that is, if he earned wages in covered employment, roughly, for about half or more of the last three years of his life—his young dependent children and his widow with such children in her care may qualify for payments.

The woman worker in covered employment earns old-age and survivors insurance protection just as does the man. It does not matter whether she is married or not.

If the woman worker earns retirement benefits in her own right and also qualifies for benefits on her husband's wage record in covered employment, she may not receive both benefits, but she may receive an amount that is equal to the larger of the two benefits. She will receive her own benefit and, in addition, the difference between the two benefits if the benefit based on her husband's wages is larger.

Achievement Day By Home Economics Clubs

Artistic As Well As Practical Exhibits Made—Program And Luncheon

The Pettis County Home Economics Extension Clubs held their annual Achievement Day, October 24th at Convention Hall with 750 people viewing the exhibits, eating lunch together and enjoying the program which was given in the afternoon. All of the thirty-five clubs were represented with thirty-four having club exhibits.

One of the most popular themes for exhibits centered around proper furniture arrangement—one of the units of work presented this year. Oak Grove Club arranged a reading room, complete in every detail with posters, which had been used at the demonstration in their club, providing the background. These posters contained much information which could readily be applied by most homemakers. Van Natta Club as well as Walnut Grove Club used miniature houses—one furnished correctly, the other incorrectly—to show that they had accomplished much by their application of certain basic rules for the placing of furniture and accessories.

The bride came in for her share of attention with both Buncombe Club and Hopewell Club providing everything she could hope for. Clever wedding bells were used to form the words "Buncombe Willing Workers"—and the many lovely things arranged around the doll dressed as a bride gave evidence that the club members had been willing workers. A cedar chest filled with bedding and household linens completed the picture. Hopewell Club used part of their theme for their exhibit—having a large "hope chest" overflowing with prize-winning pieces of handwork, quilts, rugs—everything to gladden the heart of any bride.

South Abell club members did not designate a bride to use their many beautiful pieces of handwork and much of it will soon be found in many of their own homes no doubt. Manila Club, too—those handwork for their display and the many lovely pieces were admired by everyone. Prairie Ridge centered most of their club exhibit around pillow cases and crocheted articles.

Display of Handwork
Miscellaneous collections of handwork were displayed by Sunnyside, Lookout, Stokely, and Neighboring Neighbors. The toys were a sight to make any little girl anxious for Santa. Feed sacks have proven as popular as ever with articles of every description being found on the tables arranged by Georgetown and Eldorado. Georgetown club had a very clever name plate embroidered with tiny flowers.

Food was not left out of the picture—La Monte Homemakers had arranged three most attractive and nutritious sound meals complete with flowers and silver. Had there not been such an abundance of food for the noon meal these three meals might have been in danger of being consumed rather than viewed. A cellophane cover kept the food in splendid condition.

Another project of the year "Mending and Darning" was the theme for Hughesville and Bowling Green. Some of the articles displayed showed expert workmanship. Simple, yet effective methods of mending were shown.

Display of Aprons
Santa would surely like to engage members of Bennett, Champion Striped College, Bothwell and Meet Your Neighbor to make aprons for Christmas gifts. Every size, color and pattern could be found among the aprons displayed. Practical ones as well as fancy ones were to be found.

Tonia Club chose "Home Made Money Savers" for their exhibit. Recipes for the various products were available and many pencils and notebooks were used as folk display ideas from the display. Wallpaper cleaners, homemade soap and soap chips, furniture polish, floor wax and nicest of all—hand lotion—were all shown as money savers.

Dresden Club used lunch cloths for their display and they were lovely. Several card tables were set up with covers and center pieces being used very effectively. Bittersweet in an antique blue bowl was extremely nice on a pale yellow cloth. It was impossible to have all of them on separate tables—but they could be seen very readily.

Longwood Club showed by posters and miniature models the work that had been done at each monthly meeting. This was an unusually attractive exhibit and showed that the club had been very active during the year. Other clubs received inspiration for future programs.

Interesting antiques were found in the display from Oak Point. A piece of pewter belonging to one of the club members was 156 years old and one quilt was at least 100 years old. Some of the other things were extremely interesting even though they were not so old.

High Point Club put into practice the things they had learned at a recent leader training meeting on Slip Covers. Straight chairs and a stool were wearing new dresses which were very attractive. Smithton Home Economics Club does not believe in letting furniture stay ridden in the attic—so they reupholstered 2 chairs—one chair bottom being fashioned from corn shucks and the other having a needlepoint cover. Both were quite attractive and will be most useful.

The very versatile screen made by La Monte Thursday Club caught the eye of everyone and since everyone could not carry it home with them did the next best thing by copying the blueprint which was also available. The screen was used for the baby's room and was complete in every detail—this little note explained that "if a new citizen has no room of his own, the back of a screen can store all of his essentials on racks and shelves."

and conceal his bassinet too." Other uses for the screen were suggested by other clever notes.

Arator Club was quite brave when they put out their very loveliest bedding which included everything—mattress cover, sheets, pillow cases, feather pillows, quilts, wool filled comforts, comfort protectors, blankets and spread. Bulletins on the care of bedding and the proper selection were also used in the display. Their project originated when one of the club members demonstrated the carding of wool for the comfort.

Stress Fire Prevention
One of the most informative displays was the one on "Fire Prevention" arranged by Flat Creek Club. Children dressed in pajamas that had been treated with a fire proofing liquid were perfect in safe playing near the fireplace. Many articles were used such as kitchen curtains, ironing board covers, pot lifters were also shown. The fire proofing material was to be seen with directions for making it.

Longwood Club had the Stork Corner. A very interesting contrast was made by using two dolls, one fitted with old fashioned clothing and the other with modern clothing.

Home Sewing provided the thought for Smithton Friendly Homemakers. An easy method of putting in a zipper as well as a new way of making bound buttonholes was used by the Quisenberry Club.

And last but certainly not least was the beautiful floral display from Blackwater Progressive Club. Flowers were carried in by the bushels and one entire corner of the building was made into a flower garden.

All of the displays were of unusual quality and the club members are to be congratulated. The Gift Shop was most successful. Tables were loaded with gifts ranging all the way from a jar of honey to doll furniture. Everyone could get "ideas" from this vast array.

The program consisted of special music, a skit, and a fashion show completed the day. The models used in the fashion show, directed by Mrs. Florence Elliott of Conner-Wagoner, were women selected from the various clubs. They wore the latest in dresses, suits and coats with the proper accessories. The County Chorus which was reorganized recently made it's initial appearance.

Construct Soil Saving Dam

A thin section, concrete, soil saving dam was constructed on the Ernest Jones farm, northwest of La Monte last week. These dams are used to let water down from terrace outlets to the bottom of permanent drainage ways. The purpose of this meeting was to demonstrate the use of such structure to the folks of Mr. Jones community as well as to all the folks of Pettis county who are developing water management systems on their farms.

This dam will let the drainage water from 25 acres, down approximately 5 feet, from the floor of the terrace outlet to the bottom of the permanent ditch and will prevent the ditch from cutting back into the field. This structure cost about $35.00 in materials including 20 sacks of cement, 4 yards of gravel and 150 feet of barbed wire. The labor cost would have amounted to at least $50.00 and included 2 days work for each of 5 men.

Mr. Jones, who lives 7 miles northwest of La Monte, is sitting up a good management system on this farm as well as two others in the same community. On one of them, operated by Pete Moore, a Balanced Farm Plan is being developed. The water to go over this structure comes from a 40 acre field. The terraces built last year. The terraces bring the water from about 25 acres of the 40 acres to the outlet at this side of the field, which gathers up the water and spills it out over this new structure.

J. U. Morris, County Extension Agent, made plans for the meeting. He was assisted in the construction by Ralph Ricketts, Extension Agriculture Engineer from the University of Missouri, College of Agriculture; Fred Vienneck of the Merle Vienneck, Associate County Agent, as well as Mr. Jones, Harold Elcom, and 2 neighbors. Arnold Fischer, Pettis County tractor contractor, was at the meeting and told the folks attending that he planned to have one man available next year to supervise the building of such structures with the farmer providing the materials and labor.

Ministerial Alliance Meets

The Ministerial Alliance met Monday at the Broadway Presbyterian church with hitherto president, the Rev. Herman Janssen, presiding.

Rev. J. E. Merrick was devotional leader.

Rev. L. A. Swan was the speaker, talking on the subject, "The Chaplain, His Privileges and the Returning Service Man."

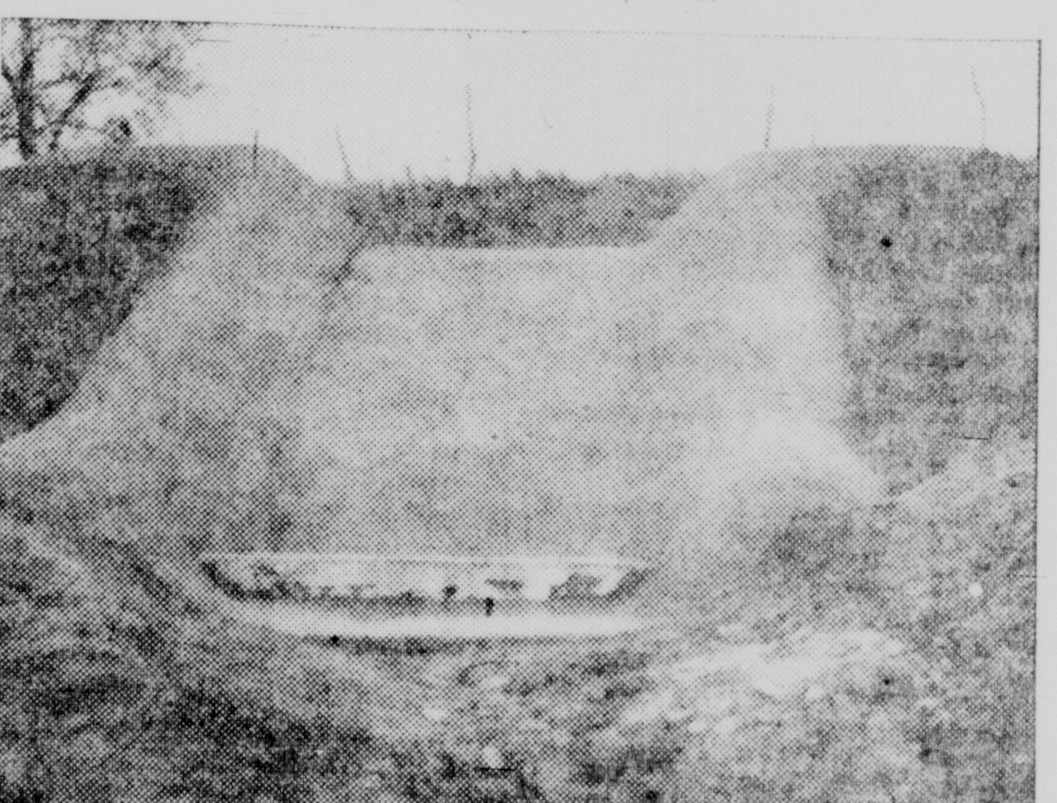

The following chairmen for the year were announced: Rev. Edgar L. Knight, program chairman; Rev. J. W. Watts, radio and county home; Rev. W. C. Bessmer, fellowship; Rev. Walter P. Arnold, public school survey; Rev. H. U. Campbell, Thanksgiving service; Rev. T. W. Croxton, pre-Easter services.

Definite plans were made for the union Thanksgiving services, which will be held Thursday, November 28, at 9:00 o'clock at the First Christian church. The Rev. W. P. Arnold will be the speaker at the services. Rev. E. L. Knight will be in charge of the order of worship and music, and the Rev. Herman Janssen presiding.

Concrete Soil Saving Dam

This section, concrete soil saving dam built recently on the Ernest Jones farm northwest of LaMonte. The notch of this structure is 2 feet deep and 6 feet wide and is located to let the water down 5 feet from a sodded terrace outlet to the bottom of the natural watercourse. Cost of materials $35.00; labor $50.00; total cost $85.00.

Scaling sides of ditch, preparatory to putting in fill to support concrete structure. The drainage from about 25 acres comes down this ditch. Workers include the farm owner, Ernest Jones, and Fred Vienneck and Keller Cordan of the Portland Cement Association.

Crowd Enjoys Music, Barber Shop Singing

Symphony Orchestra Opens Eleventh Season Sunday

The Sedalia Symphony opened its eleventh season most auspiciously Sunday afternoon.

A capacity audience greeted the players and Abe Rosenthal, the capable leader.

The out of town attraction, which has come to be a part of each entertainment, consisted this time of the Kansas City Chapter of the S. J. E. B. S. Q. S. A.

This formidable array of title is in fact Barber shop singing which has always intrigued mankind and of late years has become an organized branch of male entertainment. Originating in the middle west, the chapters of the "Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Quartet Singing in America" has grown by leaps and bounds, and has provided light-hearted escapism and pleasure during these last strenuous years for performers and audiences alike.

The Kansas Citizens, about fifty men in all, were dressed appropriately in barbers' coats, while the two quartets appeared in gay summer apparel.

The program opened with the perennial favorite, "Poet and Peasant Overture," by von Suppe, played with delicacy and precision by the orchestra.

The second number consisted of a group of four given by the visitors: "Did You Ever Get That Feeling in the Moonlight," medley; "If I Had My Way, Dear," chorus; "Four Leaf Clovers," quartet; "Daddy Get Your Baby Out of Jail," chorus.

All these were received with enthusiastic applause and generous encores were given by the chorus and quartet.

The third orchestral selection was an arrangement of the ever popular "Sigmund Romberg Favorites."

Then followed "Suite Ballet Egyptian," by A. Luigini, charming and exotic dances gracefully played by the orchestra.

Audience Delighted
The second appearance of the Singing Barbers was hailed with delight.

Then followed "Frivolous Sal," chorus; "Gamboliers," quartet; "That Old Gang of Mine," chorus; "The Super Atomic Four," quartet, and "Sweet Adeline," chorus. All these brought forth enthusiastic applause and generous encores were given by the chorus and quartet, graciously in fact, and among them were hilarious take-offs of old time harmonizers. The really beautiful harmony of tone delighted, while the almost perfect enunciation of the singers cleverly revealed the meaning of the words, always an asset for the audience.

The final feature of the orchestra fitted in well with the atmosphere of the afternoon. It was Cailliet's clever arrangement of "Pop! Goes the Weasel."

Altogether the concert met with universal acclaim and proved that music may be both inspiring and lots of fun.

Sedaliens were proud of their orchestra, which brings with it entertainment of high order.

Hope to Reactivate Chapter
Joe Stern, a former Sedalian, is director of the Kansas City group. Included in the number was Percy Franks, who was formerly on the stage with Fred Allen and Harry Denny, a brother of Lucian Denny, who in former years came to Sedalia to direct performances under the sponsorship of the Elks.

It is the desire of Mr. Stern, as well as many Sedaliens who were members of the Barber Shop unit in Sedalia before the war, that the Sedalia chapter will be reactivated.
